Study abroad this summer!

Ethics of Capitalism in Copenhagen (May 23 - June 20, 2026)

Liked Portico? Continue the Discussion this Summer in Copenhagen

If you liked Portico and want to continue thinking about how market societies can better promote human flourishing, consider taking a BC course in Copenhagen (Denmark) this summer with Professor Evans. It's called the "Ethics of Capitalism" and it's a four week course in one of the world's most beautiful (and happiest) cities. You can learn about and apply to my course and other BC summer abroad courses here. The deadline is after winter break, but note that applications are accepted on a rolling basis and courses do fill up quickly. For more information about the Copenhagen course you can email Prof Evans at evansjv@bc.edu.

ACCT1021 Financial Accounting in Prague (May 23 - June 20, 2026)

This course develops an understanding of the basic elements of financial accounting and its role in the business world. This course will allow students to not only study accounting in the classroom, but also to visit local businesses and translate the "academics" into real-world applications. The course will be led by Professor Dianne Feldman from the Carroll School Accounting Department. To learn more and to apply, you can contact Professor Feldman or click here: ACCT1021 Prague Summer 2026
